Priesthood

Last Saturday, June 5, two men were ordained to the priesthood at Sacred Heart Cathedral in Rochester: Fr. Joseph Maurici and Fr. Steven Lewis are now the two newest members of the presbyterate for the Diocese of Rochester. I was unfortunately unable to attend, as I had a funeral and wedding that same day, but it did give me cause for reflection.

Every year at this time, whether I am able to attend the ordinations or not, I can't help but think back to my own ordination. On June 3, I celebrated my fourth anniversary of Ordination to the Priesthood. In many ways, I cannot believe it has already been four years since that day. But honestly, I still cannot imagine myself doing anything else with my life. Not a day has gone by since my ordination where I haven't been grateful for the opportunity to serve as a priest.

I'm sure that just about all of us have heard at some point someone say "if you love what you do, you never work a day in your life." While this is a very clichéd statement, there really is a lot of truth in it. Even though there are many challenges in pastoral ministry, the joys far outweigh the struggles. To be able to serve as a priest in Christ's Church has been an unbelievable honor and privilege over the past four years, and I can honestly say, as I have said many times, that I cannot imagine doing anything else with my life.

We all know, of course, that there is currently a major shortage of priests in our diocese. More than half of our priests are over than 60 years old, and many of them have either reached senior status or are nearing senior status. This is the reason why so many of our parishes are having to cluster together and merge, and why so many churches have closed in recent years. The Church is in need of more vocations to the priesthood and vowed religious life. We know, of course, that without priests, we have no access to the sacraments.

Now, perhaps more than ever before, we need to pray for and foster vocations throughout the diocese and the world. I ask you to continue to pray for vocations, particularly for the Diocese of Rochester. And if you know of anyone who might be thinking of priesthood, don't hesitate to encourage them. But above all, we must continue to trust in our Good Shepherd, who promised that he would never leave us as orphans, and who never ceases to call those he has prepared to pasture his flock.

Fr. Mike

Psalm 92

Lord, it is good to give thanks to you.

It is good to give thanks to the LORD,
to sing praise to your name, Most High,
To proclaim your kindness at dawn
and your faithfulness throughout the night.

The just one shall flourish like the palm tree,
like a cedar of Lebanon shall he grow.
They that are planted in the house of the LORD
shall flourish in the courts of our God.

They shall bear fruit even in old age;
vigorous and sturdy shall they be,
Declaring how just is the LORD,
my rock, in whom there is no wrong.
Lord, it is good to give thanks to you.

A Quick Note From Our Counters

Please do not staple envelopes together, as they stick to others and/or are sharp.

Also, please write a check for each collection because it is very hard to separate one check if it is for more than one category.
